

Vacancy Technical 3D CAD Draftsman

We are

AXIOM Solid Solutions was founded early 2020 because of merging 4AV Technical Productions and 4Productions. By bundling our knowledge and activities, we increased our capacity to be the creative and driving force behind many large-scale projects.

AXIOM is a vibrant, all-round production company. From providing small scale support and developing creative concepts to fully producing an event from A to Z – AXIOM does it all! We are a flexible organization, that has a creative and inventive way of working.

You are

As a Technical 3D CAD Draftsman you are responsible for independently drawing up, elaborating, and keeping all possible (technical) 3D drawings up to date within Scad Re-Event. From our office (your homebase), you will be able to use the latest and most powerful software and hardware every day.

In your world, problems don't exist, there are only challenges that you are happy to conquer. Not a single detail is missed by your hawk-like eyes. In close consultation with the client, the technical producer, and the project manager, you map out the plan for all the necessary disciplines and create a feasible blueprint.

You have a creative, technical insight, you feel at home in the event world and – since you are working on several projects simultaneously – you know how to perform under pressure. You are a team player and together with your colleagues, you'll make the impossible become possible.
